

Off-Campus Study Quick Facts

ACM & Coe College
Partners in higher education since 1958.

WHY ACM?

Coe College is one of a select number of member schools in the Associated Colleges of the Midwest (ACM) consortium. As a result, choosing an ACM program can offer you several advantages:

- An on-campus faculty advisor for every ACM program.
- Course credits which should easily transfer to your college.
- Ease in the use of Financial Aid for your program.
- No application fee to apply to ACM programs.
- A long history of students from your college attending ACM programs.

CAMPUS APPLICATION PROCEDURES

- All Coe students who wish to enroll in off-campus programs and transfer academic credit back to Coe must complete an Off-Campus Study application and submit it to the Director of Off-Campus Study.
- Application forms may be obtained from the Director of Off-Campus Study, located in the Career Services Offices in upper Gage.

CAMPUS DEADLINES

December 4, 2009 - Students who wish to study off-campus on ACM programs during the 2010-2011 academic year must return their applications to the Director of Off-Campus Study by this date.

FACULTY PROGRAM ADVISORS

Botswana - Kimberly Lanegran

Chicago Arts - Susan Wolverton

Chicago Business, Entrepreneurship, & Society - Rob Kuennen

Chicago Urban Studies - Lisa Barnett & Bruce Nesmith

Costa Rica (fall program) - Nicholas Mason-Browne

Costa Rica (spring program) - Harlo Hadow

Florence/London & Florence - Jeff Hoover

India - Bob Drexler

Japan - David Nordmann

Newberry Seminar - Derek Buckaloo

Oak Ridge Science Semester - Martin St. Clair & Mickey Wu

Tanzania - Paula Sanchini

OFF-CAMPUS STUDIES STAFF

John Chaimov - Director of Off-Campus Study, Associate Prof. of German
(x. 8594)

STUDENT CAMPUS COORDINATOR

Katie Blanchard - kpblanch@coe.edu
Alumna of ACM India program, Fall 2008

Want more information? Go to:
www.acm.edu/coe